Guide to the Interpretation of Course Evaluations at UT Austin

The goal of course evaluation process at UT Austin is to drive teaching excellence and to support continuous improvement in teaching and learning experiences. Course evaluations provide snapshots of student perspectives on their course-level learning experiences. Most experts on teaching evaluation advise that no individual method gives the complete picture of an instructor's teaching effectiveness, multiple and diverse measures, on multiple occasions, are advised to give a full picture of the teaching effectiveness of a particular instructor. Moreover, other factors, such as size of class, level of the class, and content of the course, can cause small variations in the ratings. Therefore, student perspectives for a particular instructor or course should be interpreted as a snapshot, and not as providing complete information on the teaching effectiveness of that instructor. For additional details, including the scales and how the Mean scores are calculated, please review the Report Guide at the end of this document or, UT Austin's Viewing Course Evaluation Results webpage.

| took the time to explain concepts very well                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| I did not interact with the TA.                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Paul was a great TA who was able to break down concepts and build them back up to answer questions adequately. I appreciated his approach.                                                                                                         |
| He was great at explaining concepts in simple terms.                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| was available to clarify questions on a need-to-know basis.                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| never really interacted with them                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Feedback on homeworks                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| I appreciate he was always available to answer questions about the homework before it was due.                                                                                                                                                     |

| I didn't have much interaction with Paul, but the interactions I did have were overwhelmingly positive. He is very kind, respectful, and approachable. A great help in making this course run smoothly, and answering any questions from students. |
| Good, always keep everyone posted.                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Paul uses the most straightforward language and communicates it effectively to explain any abstract content. It was incredibly helpful and helped me understand the relationship between concepts and real-world practice.                         |
| His help in the STATA code.                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| n/a                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Paul is an great TA he is always wanting to help us students and he always checks his email, and he responds super fast which is something really good.                                                                                            |

| I don't think there is anything he should change, he was a great TA.                                                              |

Report Guide

Guide to the Interpretation of Course Evaluations at UT Austin

The goal of course evaluation process at UT Austin is to drive teaching excellence and to support continuous improvement in teaching and learning experiences. The two sets of scales used for core evaluation questions and the associated weights are:

Strongly Agree (5)
Agree (4)
Neutral (3)
Disagree (2)
Strongly Disagree (1)

Excellent (5)
Very Good (4)
Satisfactory (3)
Unsatisfactory (2)
Very Unsatisfactory (1)

The Mean is calculated by adding all of the weights for a single question and dividing by the number of respondents. The course workload question is not averaged.

The number of students (e.g. respondents) marking each option is reported for each of the items. These frequency distributions provide information about the level of student ratings and the spread and shape of the class distribution of responses. The distributions thus provide a picture of student perception of a course.

Course evaluations provide snapshots of student perspectives on their course-level learning experiences. Most experts on teaching evaluation advise that no individual method gives the complete picture of an instructor's teaching effectiveness; multiple and diverse measures, on multiple occasions, are advised to give a full picture of the teaching effectiveness of a particular instructor. Moreover, other factors, such as size of class, level of the class, and content of the course, can cause small variations in the ratings. Therefore, student perspectives for a particular instructor or course should be interpreted as a snapshot, and not as providing complete information on the teaching effectiveness of that instructor.
